

Cultivating Safe Farm Operations

eLearning Safety Series and Resource Material

Program Overview:

In partnership with Ohio State University College of Food, Agriculture and Environmental Science's Ag Safety and Health Program, and Nationwide, Ohio Farm Bureau's Cultivating Safe Farm Operations eLearning safety series is an interactive online education program. Created with three initial modules, the series was developed to be engaging and accessible to a broad audience of farmers, part time, full time and youth farm workers.

Each of the three initial modules will take learners about 40 minutes to complete, and cover several basic agricultural risks. Each module integrates an assessment into the online platform to assure basic comprehension and help cultivate on-farm behavior modification.

To access the program modules, prospective learners must create an account in Farm Bureau University. The platform is provided in partnership with American Farm Bureau Federation, and includes additional self directed learning opportunities.

Vision Statement
Creating a culture of farm safety to eliminate incidents in Ohio's agricultural community.

Ag Safety 101

Farming is one of the most dangerous industries in the United States. In this module, we lay the groundwork for you to begin building a culture of safety on your farming operation and reduce the number of incidents in the industry. And learners will build comfort in the online learning environment.

Tractor and Roadway

Too many of us know someone involved in a serious tractor or roadway incident. In this module, learners will learn the safety fundamentals of tractors, power take offs (PTO's) and ag roadway use. We will review hazards and strategies you can use on your operation and in your day to day activities to reduce your incident risk.

Equipment and Machinery

Farmers love machines and equipment. But each tool we use has an associated risk. In this module, we deconstruct the risks associated in farm equipment to prepare you to keep the people on your farm safe.

Ohio Farm Bureau's Workers' Compensation Group Rating Program

Successful completion of three modules satisfies an Ohio Farm Bureau members annual Workers' Comp Group Rating safety training requirement. Find out more at ofbf.org/agsafety or by contacting agsafety@ofbf.org.
