

ITEMIZED CHECKLIST

As you renew your membership, you may be wondering what exactly you are getting when you invest in Ohio Farm Bureau. Below is an itemized checklist, to help you understand the true value of membership.

Value Provided
Advocacy at the county, state and national level to give you a voice and political influence on issues important to Ohio farms and agriculture.	✓
Strong policy work that led to the creation and reform of CAUV, elimination of estate taxes in Ohio, lower state and federal taxes, strong farm and crop insurance programs, defending animal agriculture and property rights and funding for the H2Ohio water quality initiative, to name a few.	✓
On-staff experts to help you through questions about energy development, property rights, transportation rules and various policy questions you may have.	✓
Support for youth involved in 4-H, FFA and our Young Agricultural Professionals program, as well as scholarships, Explore Ag camps and our Youth Pathways program, which helps young people find their place in Ohio's agriculture community.	✓
Networking opportunities that give you access to lawmakers, community leaders, industry experts and each other.	✓
Leadership development and professional growth opportunities through our AgriPOWER program, organizational experiences and conferences.	✓
News and information you can use through all of our member communications.	✓
Business solutions from our partners at Nationwide, plus our Health Benefits Plan, Ohio Bureau of Workers' Compensation Group Rating Program and a multitude of member benefits.	✓
Immersing the public in Ohio agriculture through engaging county events, the Ohio State Fair, our partnerships with The Ohio State University, many ag community partners, the business community and our work with a broad range of media outlets across the country.	✓
A dedicated team at American Farm Bureau who lobby for and defend agriculture on a daily basis in Washington, D.C., in legal, legislative and regulatory arenas.	✓
